JAI PUR RUGS

Built on the foundations of love and kindness, at Jaipur Rugs we are breathing new life into the ancient art of carpet weaving, elevating artisans to artists, to bring the world beautifully designed, handcrafted works of art in the form of rugs. We work in direct contact with our community of more than 40,000 artisans. Every carpet we produce is a blessing of love, from the weaver to you, our customer. We invite you to find a special rug for a special place in your home.

INTRODUCTION

Jocelyn Burton

Jocelyn Burton was an award-winning Silversmith, internationally recognised as one of the world's leading artists in precious metals, and was the first female Freeman of the City of London. A powerful combination of creative audacity with technical perfection is the enduring legacy of her work.

About the Collection

Presenting our latest collection – Woven Gems – a creation inspired by the timeless, iconic work of legendary silversmith, Jocelyn Burton. It is a showcase of creativity, talent, and inspiration. Crafted from 100% pure silk, by over 30 artists, each rug has been meticulously created over a period of 60 days, using traditional techniques passed down through generations.

Lirio

The Lirio rug's exquisite floral pattern is derived from an original painting by Jocelyn Burton. The painting was made while creating a two-meter-long tulip centrepiece made of sterling silver and fine enamels, commissioned by the Chelsea Arts Club in London.

Neptune

The Neptune Rug brings life to the enchanting and fierce silver creations of legendary artist Jocelyn Burton. This ebony and olive rug draws inspiration from the notable Fishmongers Wall Sconce, a piece commissioned by Lord Inchcape to commemorate his father, a former Prime Warden of the Worshipful Company of Fishmongers, and which now sits in the Fishmongers Hall on London Bridge.
