Kengo Kuma on crafting tactile luxury in his latest handmade carpet collaboration

By Lucy Gibbs, Nov 1, 2021 • 7 min read

Kengo Kuma has worked in his signature style with master weavers using sustainable hemp and furnishing fibre. The collection draws inspiration from the subtle, atmospheric language of Japanese poetry, and is the latest in a series of collaborations between the architect and a range of carpet and rug manufacturers around the world.

Dr Simon Kirk, Isaac Hayat and Kengo Kuma unveil a textile, not a skyscraper
